FOOTNOTES ISSUE 141: NO OFFSHORE DRILLING IN GEORGIA

NO OFFSHORE DRILLING

#ProtectOurCoast

If the Trump administration's plan to expand offshore drilling becomes reality, spills will be inevitable -- and devastating. Offshore oil spills happen frequently, devastating marine environments, commercial fishing industries, and tourism businesses. Even without spills, offshore oil inevitably causes pollution.

We can't allow this administration to jeopardize our waters, wildlife, climate, and coastal communities. There are several ways to resist this dangerous and destructive plan:

- Join us for a film screening of Shore Stories at SweetWater Brewery in Atlanta on Monday, 2/26. RSVP HERE >>
- The Bureau of Ocean Energy Management (BOEM) is accepting comments on this destructive plan through March 9th. Add yours and tell them the people have spoken: NO drilling in our oceans! SEND YOUR MESSAGE HERE >>

TAKE ACTION

STOP COAL WASTE POLLUTION IN GEORGIA'S WATERS

We need your help keeping the Chattahoochee clean!

Toxic coal waste is stored all around Georgia - from Rome to Brunswick and everywhere in between. Toxic chemicals and heavy metals from these storage facilities pollute your water and could harm your family. We need to keep our waterways clean and our families safe.

Send a message to your legislators asking them to fight for the health of our rivers and our homes.

INVESTING WITH IMPACT

Strategic Philanthropy Talk with Fuller Callaway

Join us on March 7 at 6 PM for a lively and interesting discussion on how your gifts can help transform the work that the Georgia Sierra Club does. We will be joined by Fuller Callaway, a financial adviser with the Indigo Group at Morgan Stanley, who will help you navigate the trends around the environment and investing with impact. The evening will cover:

- History of investing with impact
- Where the space is today
- Current trends in philanthropy
- How the 2017 tax legislation may change giving
- Opportunities for strategic giving

This talk will be held at the Offices of Dickason Law Group (1801 Peachtree St NW #155, Atlanta, GA 30309). Light refreshments will be served. We hope to see you there!
