Hi Friends!

We had to reschedule the No Denying Climate Change Town Hall with Representative Yassamin Ansari -- as soon as we have a new date, we will let you know. Our apologies for any inconvenience to you all. In the meantime, if you are in the Phoenix area, consider joining us for coffee, conversation, and a climate action on Monday morning.

Coffee, Conversation, and Climate Action
Monday, August 31st

Register here.

See you then!

Note that it is possible there may be a special session to address the Colorado River shortage agreement. Stay tuned on that. We will soon be requesting a date for Environmental Day at the Capitol too.

The Trump Administration is continuing its attacks on our public lands. This time it is the repeal of the Roadless Area Conservation Rule. Please take action below to support keeping the rule intact to protect unfragmented wildlife habitat and areas adjoining rivers and streams, among other unroaded forests.

Many thanks!

Director, Sierra Club - Grand Canyon Chapter

Act to Protect Our National Forests!

Our undeveloped national forests are the heart of public lands. But now one of the most important -- and most underappreciated -- conservation policies is on the verge of being eliminated by the Trump administration. If the Roadless Area Conservation Rule is repealed, 45 million acres of pristine national forests across the country would be opened up for the first time in more than 20 years to road building, logging, mining, and other harmful activities associated with them. More than 1.1 million acres of our undeveloped forests in Arizona will be at risk, including in the Santa Rita Mountains, Lime Creek in the Tonto National Forest, Chevelon Canyon, and Black River Canyon, among other locations.

The Roadless Rule was created by the Forest Service because it was ecologically critical, fiscally responsible, and overwhelmingly popular. Now this administration is repealing it citing fire concerns and timber value -- but neither of those justifications stands up to scrutiny. And on the flip side, we need unfragmented wildlife habitat more than ever.

We want to continue to demonstrate how popular this policy is, and to raise more awareness about it, by submitting even more comments to the administration than last year.
