The 2026 Legislative Scorecard was developed by Sierra Club California staff to evaluate the environmental performance of the California Legislature and Governor during the 2026 legislative year.

This report reflects the collective work of Sierra Club California's policy, advocacy, communications, and legislative teams, whose efforts throughout the year helped advance environmental protections, defend public participation, and hold California's elected officials accountable.

We extend our appreciation to Sierra Club's California chapters, volunteer leaders, legislative committees, and coalition partners for their continued advocacy, expertise, and commitment to protecting California's environment and communities.

About Sierra Club California

Sierra Club California is the statewide legislative and regulatory advocacy arm of the California chapters. We work to advance policies that protect clean air and water, address the climate crisis, safeguard public lands and wildlife, promote environmental justice, and strengthen public participation in environmental decision-making.

Through legislative advocacy, regulatory engagement, and collaboration with chapters and community partners, Sierra Club California works to ensure that California's environmental commitments translate into meaningful and lasting protections.

Note on the Scorecard

The scores and evaluations presented in this report reflect Sierra Club California's positions on 10 selected environmental bills and the recorded actions of California's elected officials on them during the 2026 legislative year. Scores are intended to provide a transparent assessment of alignment with Sierra Club California's environmental priorities and do not represent an evaluation of every action taken by an individual legislator or the Governor.

2026: Inching Back to Normalcy

For 40 years, Sierra Club California has served as a leading voice for environmental protection in the State Capitol, advocating for policies that safeguard our communities and advance a healthier, more sustainable California. The 2026 legislative year was a marked improvement from 2025. New environmental champions emerged in the Legislature, and legislators put forward a suite of bills to start regulating the environmental and ratepayer impacts of data centers, incentivize the electrification of buildings and homes, protect California coasts from oil and gas drilling, and support equitable access to the outdoors. There were far fewer rollbacks to environmental protections this year, including rumored behind-closed-door big business negotiations that failed to bear fruit, like the sweetheart deal for a luxury coastal developer or the California Forever project.

However, this session was not without its drawbacks. The California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) has been continually attacked. Last year's SB 131, which removed CEQA's requirements for many manufacturing plants, was ultimately not cleaned up as previously promised by legislative leadership. Major industry-backed rollbacks by the California Air Resources Board to the state Cap-and-Invest program meant many environmental programs were underfunded this year. And Governor Newsom continued his poor track record on environmental issues at the end of his tenure.

Priority Bill Summaries

Sierra Club California's policy team selects the bills that are scored from our overall list of priority bills. The selection process includes an evaluation of the bill's impact on Sierra Club California's mission and the environment and represents the breadth of issue areas that Sierra Club California advocates on. This year, we scored 10 total bills: 8 bills that we supported and 2 that we opposed. When a bill returned to its house of origin for a concurrence vote, we used that vote.

AB 2313 (Berman) Accelerating Equitable Building Electrification – SUPPORT

This bill will streamline building electrification efforts by incentivizing gas customers to transition from fossil gas infrastructure to zero-emission electric alternatives, with a focus on disadvantaged communities.

SB 222 (Wiener) Streamlining Home Electrification – SUPPORT

This bill will accelerate the transition to residential electrification and reduce climate and air pollution impacts by removing local permitting, cost, and regulatory barriers to installing heat pump technologies in homes.

AB 1448 (Hart) Protecting Coastal Lands from Oil & Gas Development - SUPPORT

This bill will strengthen safeguards for California's coast by increasing oversight of existing offshore oil operations and preventing the use of state infrastructure to facilitate new federal offshore oil and gas development and infrastructure.

SB 954 (Blakespear) Cleaning up CEQA Exemption for Overbroad "Advanced Manufacturing" Projects - SUPPORT

This bill would have addressed the environmental and public health rollbacks enacted under SB 131 (2025), and taken critical steps toward fixing the "advanced manufacturing" CEQA exemption loophole.

SB 1370 (Stern) Exempting Wildfire Mitigation Projects From Nearly All Environmental Laws and Regulations – OPPOSE

This bill will jeopardize public and ecosystem health by exempting wildfire mitigation projects up to 3,000 acres in size from a wide range of environmental laws and regulations under CNRA and CalEPA's purview.

AB 2218 (Kalra) Protecting Tribal Water Rights – SUPPORT

This bill would have addressed the historical injustices experienced by California Native Tribes by establishing a policy to increase tribal water rights.

AB 2494 (Rogers) Redefining Forest Management – SUPPORT

This bill would have required state demonstration forests to demonstrate biodiversity conservation and wildfire resilience, while supporting durable onsite carbon sequestration, climate mitigation and resiliency goals, equitable forest access, wildlife habitat, recreation, and research efforts.

AB 40 (Bonta) Community First Coal Review Act – SUPPORT

This bill will ensure that proposed large-scale coal facilities receive full environmental review – an important step towards protecting community health and the environment.

SB 1268 (Gonzalez) Expanding Outdoor Public Recreation Spaces – SUPPORT

This bill will establish an initiative to advance equitable access to outdoor public recreation spaces, and align these goals with the state's outdoor equity goals and 30x30 goal to ensure conservation strategies enhance public access and benefits for disadvantaged and low-income communities.

SB 811 (Caballero) Industry Loopholes for Metal Shredding Facilities - OPPOSE

This bill will create an unnecessary carve out permitting structure to California's established hazardous waste laws for metal shredding facilities.

Strong Environmental Champions in the Legislature and New Leadership in the Senate Are Big Boons for the Environment

Out of Sierra Club California's 28 priority support bills, 15, or a little more than half, were passed out of the Legislature. Seventeen of our 21 priority opposition bills met their end in the Legislature, or Sierra Club California moved to neutral after significant amendments.

Many of Sierra Club California's support bills died in the Assembly, whose leadership continues to be much more moderate on environmental issues than the Senate. Meanwhile, the Senate, with new, strong environmental leadership from Pro Tem Limón, Appropriations Chair Cervantes and Budget Chair Laird, killed many of our priority opposition bills, while supporting many of our priority support bills.

Our Environmental Champions in this year's Scorecard in the Assembly are Assemblymembers Bonta and Hart, who both performed strongly in our scorecard and authored priority support bills – AB 40 (Bonta), to ensure large coal facilities receive environmental review, and AB 1448 (Hart) to protect California coasts from oil and gas drilling.

2026 ASSEMBLY CHAMPIONS

Mia Bonta
Assemblymember · District 18

Gregg Hart
Assemblymember · District 37

In the Senate, our environmental champions are Senators Blakespear and Menjivar. Senator Blakespear performed well in our scorecard, and used her power as Senate Environmental Quality Committee Chair to stop multiple harmful environmental bills that would have weakened air quality protections and public health guardrails. Blakespear also authored two priority support bills to better protect the environment and worker health: SB 954 and SB 1259. Meanwhile, Senator Menjivar received one of the highest scores in the Senate, and authored a Sierra Club California priority bill - SB 1125 - which would have created a statewide water affordability program.

2026 SENATE CHAMPIONS

Caroline Menjivar
Senator · District 20

Catherine Blakespear
Senator · District 37

Legislators who received a perfect score include Assemblymembers Garcia, Haney, Hart, Lee, Pellerin, Schultz, Ward and Zbur. No Senators received a perfect score, largely because of the high number of Senators who voted "yes" on SB 1370 (Stern and Becker) - a priority opposition bill.

Assemblymembers who received an "A" include Assemblymembers Addis, Alvarez, Bauer-Kahan, Bennett, Berman, Boerner, Bonta, Bryan, Connolly, Elhawary, Fong, Gabriel, Kalra, Muratsuchi, Ortega, and Celeste Rodriguez. Senators who received an "A" include Senators Arreguin, McNerney, Menjivar, and Wiener.

Democrats in the Senate had the same average and median scores overall as Democrats in the Assembly.

A Governor Unwilling to Exercise Bold Leadership

2026 was Governor Newsom's last year as California's governor, which meant this was his last opportunity to sign and veto bills. The 10 bills we scored all made it to Newsom's desk. Of these bills, he signed five that we supported, vetoed three that we supported, and signed two that we opposed. Therefore, Newsom earned a failing grade of 50 percent.

As Newsom angles himself for a likely 2028 presidential run, his environmental record in the 2026 legislative year continued to slip. Newsom's veto of three priority support bills that were scored – SB 954 (Blakespear), AB 2218 (Kalra) and AB 2494 (Rogers) – exposes frontline communities to increased risk from industrial pollution, excludes tribes from important decision-making tables, and uplifts extractive management of state forests.

While these vetoes dragged down Newsom's score this year, the Governor did take important actions aligned with Sierra Club California's positions that he deserves credit for. Specifically, Newsom protected Californians from reckless actions from the federal administration.

He signed AB 40 (Bonta) and AB 1448 (Hart), ensuring that communities in West Oakland and the Central Coast are better protected against polluting projects proposed by the Trump administration. While Newsom's environmental record this year left much to be desired, Sierra Club California is grateful that the Governor stood up to President Trump when his ire turned to California's environment.

How to read the scores

Each legislator's score represents the percentage of selected legislative actions that aligned with Sierra Club California's positions. The tables identify each legislator's name, district, political party, voting record on individual bills, and overall environmental score.
The scorecard uses the following symbols:

- ✓ (dark green): The legislator voted in agreement with Sierra Club California's position.
- × (red): The legislator voted contrary to Sierra Club California's position.
- ✓+ (light green): The legislator did not cast a vote, and the abstention was scored as aligned.
- ✓− (gold): The legislator did not cast a vote, and the abstention was scored as not aligned.
- ABS (gray): The legislator was recorded as absent for that vote.
