Re: Arizona Voters Support Reforming the Filibuster

A new survey from Global Strategy Group, conducted in partnership with the Sierra Club, finds that Arizona voters support reforming the filibuster to allow the Senate to pass legislation to protect Americans' right to vote by simple majority.¹ Support for reforming the filibuster outweighs opposition by 15 points (56% support/41% support), with a plurality of Arizona voters (29%) strongly supporting filibuster reform.

Democrats and independent voters in the state support reforming the filibuster by double digits (+59 point margin among Democrats and +16 among independents), and more than a third of Republican voters (35%) also support filibuster reform. Support is strong among Hispanic voters (71% support/25% oppose), younger voters (62% support/33% oppose), and both college educated (56% support/41%) and non-college (56% support/40% oppose) voters in the state.

¹ Question text: As you may know, the filibuster is a process in the U.S. Senate that allows a minority of U.S. senators to block legislation that a majority of senators support. Some people have proposed reforming the filibuster to allow the Senate to pass legislation that would protect American citizens' right to vote via a simple majority vote. Just based on what you know, would you support or oppose reforming the filibuster to allow the Senate to pass such legislation via a simple majority vote?
