A remarkable desert river flows from the mountains of western Nevada to a terminus in Death Valley. The Amargosa River is often called the “Crown Jewel of the Mojave Desert” because of its beauty and abundant resources, and perhaps no one has done more to protect this watershed than Susan Sorrells.

Susan Sorrells grew up in Shoshone, CA—a desert town that was pioneered by her grandfather in the early 20th Century. Ms. Sorrells owns and manages the town of Shoshone. In 2020 she helped launch Friends of the Amargosa Basin—a non-profit with a mission to create an Amargosa Basin national monument. Ms. Sorrells has a wealth of knowledge, experiences and stories about the Amargosa, that she will share with us at this truly special presentation. This is not to be missed.
