Court Rejects Artesa Environmental Impact Report

Late in 2013 everyone who loves our amazing coastal forests had good reason to join Redwood Chapter activists in rejoicing when Sonoma County Superior Court Judge Elliot Daum effectively rejected Artesa Winery's plan to clearcut 154 acres of Gualala River watershed redwood forest in order to plant vineyards on the site. As related in previous editions of the Redwood Needles, the Chapter has contended that the permitting for this project has violated the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA), and in partnership with Friends of the Gualala River and Center for Biological Diversity we brought suit to overturn permitting based on faulty environmental review.

On December 6, 2013 the judge issued a ruling agreeing with our contention that the Environmental Impact Report (EIR) for the "Fairfax" forest-to-vineyard conversion project fails to satisfy CEQA requirements, in part because it did not properly analyze alternatives less damaging to the environment, such as non-forested alternative sites. This judgment means that the project, funded by Spanish company Codorniu S.A., the owner of Napa Valley's Artesa Winery, may not proceed unless the EIR, which was approved by the California Department of Forestry and Fire Protection (Cal Fire), can be revised to comply with state law.

"Clearcutting forests to plant vineyards is foolish and short-sighted," said Justin Augustine, staff attorney at the Center for Biological Diversity. "Turning redwood stands into vineyards will increase greenhouse gas emissions and harm stream flows, water quality and habitat for wildlife, including endangered salmon and steelhead trout."

We're not done yet— an appeal is still possible, and as is true of all CEQA litigation this court decision doesn't in itself permanently strike down the permit for the project. But it does make the regulatory path forward much more uncertain, slow and burdensome for the developer— so the Sierra Club, our partners, and all lovers of the forest have a genuine reason to celebrate.

As we move forward, there is still a lot of work to do.

We have to continue our efforts to convince Artesa to find an environmentally suitable alternative location for their project, and to sell the current forested site to a conservation-oriented landowner.

To help persuade them to take an environmentally responsible course of action, we're encouraging all members to add their name to an online petition being circulated by Friends of the Gualala. Visit the Redwood Chapter website, www.redwood.sierraclub.org/ for a link to the petition.

WILDERNESS— THE CELEBRATION

BY VICTORIA BRANDON,
REDWOOD CHAPTER CHAIR

2014 is going to be a spectacular year for everyone who loves wildlands, which is a category that includes most of us here on the North Coast, with our wealth of towering coastal forests, dramatic rivers with their incredible runs of spawning salmon, and extraordinary recreational opportunities. Since 2014 is the 50th anniversary of the passage of the landmark federal Wilderness Act, we'll be celebrating these natural wonders throughout the year with a series of special hikes and other events. Passed by an overwhelmingly bipartisan vote of the United States Congress, this farsighted legislation was signed by President Lyndon Johnson on September 3, 1964, creating the National Wilderness Preservation System. The lands included in this system protect our air, water, and critical habitat for rare and endangered plants and animals. They also offer opportunities to enjoy diverse

Moving the Santa Rosa Southeast Greenway Forward

BY STEPHEN FULLER-ROWELL

The next Santa Rosa Southeast Greenway Campaign public meeting is scheduled for Saturday, February 8, 2014, from 10:00 am to 12:00 noon at The Glaser Center at 547 Mendocino Avenue in Santa Rosa.

Moving the Southeast Greenway Forward: A Community Partnership

will include:

Progress Report on the Southeast Greenway Campaign by the Campaign leadership;

Parks for People: A presentation by Trudy Garber, Project Associate with the Trust for Public Land;

Community Partnerships - New Models for Parks and Open Space: A Forum with representatives of the Sonoma County Agricultural Preservation and Open Space District, Sonoma County Regional Parks, City of Santa Rosa Recreation and Parks Department, and LandPaths.

The public is encouraged to RSVP to Linda@SoutheastGreenway.org for this free event which is co-sponsored by the Southeast Greenway Campaign, ArchiLOGIX, TLCD, LandPaths, Santa Rosa Chamber of Commerce, and the Leadership Institute for Ecology and the Economy.

The Southeast Greenway Campaign is a community-based effort to develop a vital urban greenway on the stretch of open space in Santa Rosa that links Spring Lake to Highway 12 at Farmers Lane. This will create a community asset that will:

- Strengthen our regional network of bike and pedestrian trails, providing safe ways to bike and walk to school, work or shopping
- Encourage healthy lifestyles by providing community gardens, gathering places and recreational opportunities
- Preserve and restore native trees, grasses, wildlife habitat, creeks and wetlands
- Contribute to our local economy and quality of life

Caltrans released a draft of a long-awaited new Highway 12 study

Ghosts of NAFTA & the Future of Globalization

AN EVENT FOCUSED ON THE TRANS-PACIFIC PARTNERSHIP & FAST TRACK

Sponsored by the North Bay Central Labor Council (AFL-CIO), the Sierra Club's Redwood Chapter, Sonoma County Conservation Action, Communications Workers of America (CWA) Local 9400

On January 9, 2014, the White House & Republican leadership joined forces to expand NAFTA. They want to create a massive new "free trade agreement" called the Trans-Pacific Partnership (or TPP) that would grant corporations vast new rights to challenge our pro-worker, pro-environmental agenda and further erode our democracy.

We have a make-or-break opportunity to change the direction of globalization— to stand up for balanced and responsible "fair trade" as a replacement for corporate "free trade." But if we are to succeed, we need Rep. Mike Thompson to vote with us in support of working families, the environment, consumer safety and sustainable development.

The good news is that we can stop TPP and create a new model for globalization. The event will cover the history of "globalization," review some case studies of how NAFTA and similar "trade" deals impact democracy and discuss people-oriented alternatives for globalization.

"Greenway Moving Forward"

in August 2013. The draft report confirms at long last that the freeway section of State Route 12 will not be extended east from Farmers Lane through Spring Lake Park. This is good news. The report also makes it clear that the decision on the future use of the corridor lies with the City of Santa Rosa and Sonoma County in conjunction with the local community. It explains that the State's responsibility, once the land is declared excess, is to sell it at the highest possible value. This policy reflects the original cost of purchase by the tax payer through the State.

Fortunately, the California Transportation Plan and Caltrans Smart Mobility Framework seek to enhance the economy, support communities, safeguard the environment for the benefit of all, respond to climate change and reduce CO2 emissions. Our community will therefore have many approaches to ensure that appraisals of these 52 acres reflect critical values that enhance community benefits for all. These non-monetary values would include the potential for alternative transportation, conservation, mitigation, and climate adaptation. The offices of our State representatives are ready to assist with any special legislation that may be needed to facilitate transfer of title from Caltrans to a local agency.

Once the draft report becomes final, it is expected to take approximately one year for Caltrans to go through the process of declaring the Highway 12 right-of-way as excess land. During this time—2014—it will be essential for our community to come together and agree on a creative and viable proposal for Caltrans to transfer title of the property to a local entity on reasonable terms. Community partnerships and a show of broad-based support for the Southeast Greenway from all stakeholders in Sonoma County will be crucial.

According to the National Park Service: Greenway corridors have the potential to create jobs, enhance property values, expand local businesses, attract new and relocating businesses, increase local tax revenues, decrease local government expenditures, and promote a local community.

Visit www.SoutheastGreenway.org for more information, maps and background reports and attend the meeting on February 8 to learn more about how our community can come together to acquire this incredible asset.

recreational activities including hiking, backpacking, climbing, kayaking, canoeing, rafting, horse packing, hunting, fishing, and bird watching. Above all, the Wilderness Act mandates opportunities for solitude and simplicity, in recognition of the profound human need to find spiritual refreshment in nature.

2014 also marks the 30th anniversary of the creation of California's exemplary state wilderness system, which has preserved state lands in a wild condition similarly to federal wilderness, giving us an additional reason for rejoicing.

Here in Redwood Chapter we are particularly blessed with an abundance of protected wilderness: our nine counties contain no fewer than nineteen designated federal wilderness areas, and three that have been named by the State of California. So as our particular contribution to the nationwide celebration of Wilderness 50 organized by the national Club, we decided to prepare a Guidebook to these 21 very special places.

These lands are extraordinarily varied, ranging in size from Trinity Alps at more than a half million acres to the diminutive six-acre Rocks and Islands, and ranging in altitude from sea level to a towering 9000 feet. Some are easy to reach, with trail head parking immediately adjacent to state highways, others can be approached only after long drives on four-wheel forest roads, and one (Rocks and Islands again) can't be accessed at all. Some are managed by the Forest Service, others by the Bureau of Land Management or California State Parks. Some have a network of developed trails and substantial numbers of visitors, others no trails at all, and hardly any people either. But each is special in its own way, and each merits the highest level of protection offered to any of our public lands.

Copies of the Guidebook will soon be available at the Environmental Center in Santa Rosa for a suggested donation of $5, and arrangements will be made to order copies by mail, phone, and through our website. For details, please check the next issue of the Redwood Needles.

In the meantime, we're also encouraging Redwood Chapter's cities and counties to join the Wilderness 50 celebrations by presenting resolutions proclaiming the significance of the wilderness to our land, our nation, and its people. At press time, the Lake County Board of Supervisors had just done exactly that (see the Lake Group report for details and a photo), and we were anticipating opportunities to receive similar proclamations from the Sonoma, Solano and Mendocino counties' Boards of Supervisors.

Built by Sierra Club members in 1934, this rustic, hostel-style lodge stands atop historic Donner Pass, just an hour and a half from Sacramento.

The Lodge grooms its own cross country ski and snowshoe trails, rents equipment for these activities and offers cross country ski lessons. The unbeatable location of the Lodge provides quick and easy access to the legendary Donner Summit backcountry ski terrain or any of its downhill or cross country ski resorts.

Guests enjoy excellent family style meals, a friendly staff and a casual and communal atmosphere.

See you on Donner Summit...

Outings will start not later than 15 minutes after scheduled meeting time. The leader is in charge of the trip and is responsible for your welfare and the good name of the Club. He/she must have your cooperation to make the trip safe, pleasant and rewarding. Never charge ahead of the leader and keep within sight or shouting distance of the person ahead of you so you do not miss an intersecting trail. Do not lag behind rear leader: if you need help, the rear leader will remain to assist you. Do not leave the group without the leader's permission.

Be adequately equipped and prepared. You should carry lunch and liquids. Wear footwear appropriate for the outing. In most cases that would be hiking boots.

The Sierra Club does not have insurance for carpooling arrangements and assumes no liability for them. Participants assume the risks associated with travel. Reimburse the carpool driver. Carpools are not part of the outing but a means of conserving natural resources.

Ratings for Outings Leaders

How fast or slow do you go?

Wonder if an outing leader walks fast or slow? Keep in mind that the leader's speed is but one part of hiking. How high up a mountain the hike starts, the total mileage and elevation gain (up hill) and loss (down hill) greatly affect the difficulty of a hike, regardless of how fast or slow you walk. If you have any doubts about being able to do a hike or have other questions, please call the leader to discuss your concerns. These ratings only serve as a guide and are not a substitute for you being in appropriate physical condition before participating in an outing.

Leaders are grouped according to how fast they normally hike. Please keep in mind that this info is to help you decide if a hike is right for you. The outing rating instructions to hikers is also important for participants to read. Look at the difficulty of the hike. If the rating is moderate with few or more frequent stops a fast pace hiker must hike slower to accommodate that rating.

Outings Chair Report

In November I received an email from two Vermont Sierra Club chapter activists (Denis Rydjeski & Betsy Eldredge) who were traveling to California in December to attend a lobbying colloquium at Westerbeke Ranch conference center by Sonoma. They wanted to do a local hike after the conference. One of the greatest advantages of belonging to a national organization like the Sierra Club is the wonderful training sessions that are available. This was the Annual State Colloquium, a training Sierra Club offers for Chapter Directors and those individuals doing lobbying at the state level. (I had never heard of it.) I asked my leaders who wanted to help. Tiffany, one of my Sonoma Group leaders, offered. She scouted out Bartholemew Park for the hike. I also received an email from my favorite Wilderness activist Vicki Hoover. She needed a place to stay for one night (she was speaking at the conference) and wanted to stay for the hike. Again Tiffany offered. On the day of the hike I was overwhelmed. I met Dave Scott (our president) Mike Brune (director) and Denis & Betsy from Vermont. Nice seeing Greg Casini from Rocky Mountain Chapter again. The best part, according to Vicki, was going on our 1st hike together. We had networked in 1987-1993 when we pushed for Alan Cranston's 7.1 million acre Desert Protection Act, but never went on an outing together. Hiking with us also was Estrella Perez, community lobbyist from Puerto Rico. (see photo.) She brought me up to speed on what is happening in Puerto Rico. I had met Eduardo Gonzalez from Puerto Rico at Outings Chair training in March of 2005 at the Marconi Conference Center in Marshall.

Same year in September at the Sierra Summit in SF I met Cano Menedez. Both were trying to establish an outing and conservation program in their country. I spoke at length with both of them about how we run outings in the Redwood Chapter. I knew they were successful and that Sierra Club was active in Puerto Rico. I was fortunate to meet so many activists from all over the US. Many were in the 25-35 year old range. We had about 25 people on the hike. I was rear leader. I did interpretation for the hikers who were by me as some had never been to California before and wanted to know the names of the trees and plants. I also talked about forest preservation, vineyards, invasive plants, etc. Estrella & I are keeping in touch by email and she has our website address. The weather was warm that day and the members from back east were going back to subzero temperatures. Everyone had a great time, some staying for wine tasting at Bartholemew. This was my 1st time at Westerbeke and I have lived here all my life. It is in the shadow of our Sonoma Mountain and a beautiful retreat center. I can't thank Tiffany enough for putting the hike together and being the leader.

We had many work parties & hikes up there in previous years. His wife Julie is on staff there. Sierra Club members volunteer there for work parties. It is a beautiful property.

Bill Knight (North Group) was back from working in Montana long enough to make the Redwood Needles deadline for outings but then had to go back for a week to work. If you have been keeping track of the subzero temperatures in Montana you know Bill will have adventures.

Lake Group Report

BOS Chair Denise Rushing, Lake Group Chair Ed Robey, Vice Chair Cheri Holden

Lake Group started the year with a bang when chair Ed Robey and vice chair Cheri Holden teamed up to accept a proclamation from the Board of Supervisors in honor of the fiftieth anniversary of the landmark federal Wilderness Act—an event kicking off a year of nationwide celebrations that seems to have been the first of its kind in the United States. After passage by an overwhelmingly nonpartisan Congressional vote, this legislation was signed into law by President Lyndon B. Johnson on September 3, 1964. It created America's National Wilderness Preservation System, federal lands to be preserved permanently for "the use and enjoyment of the American people in such manner as will . . . provide for the protection of these areas and the preservation of their wilderness character."

On Tuesday January 7, 2014 as virtually the first item of business of the New Year, Board Chair Denise Rushing read a resolution proclaiming the significance of our National Wilderness Preservation System to "America's cultural, scientific, historical, and spiritual heritage," reflecting on the "profound influence of the great outdoors on our lives and our national character" and committing to "preserving them for generations to come." All or part of the federally-designated wilderness areas Cache Creek, Sanhedrin, Snow Mountain, and Yuki lie within the borders of Lake County.

At press time the Group was also looking forward to its first general membership meeting of 2014, when local market gardener Sky Hoyt will talk about a subject to which we all devote a lot of attention but which few of us understand very well: the weather. He will review a few basic weather concepts, examine the Lake County Ag Forecast web page, and discuss microclimate observations, with lots of opportunities for questions and group discussion. Sky, who has been self employed in agriculture full time since 1974, began farming vegetable crops in Lake County in 1985 and his top quality produce has been a fixture of local farmers markets ever since—but few people are aware of his passion for meteorology.

Napa Group Report

Napa Group Welcomes New Executive Committee Members

As you read this, the Napa Sierra Club group is welcoming two new members to its executive committee. Able candidates have come forward to serve.

Chris Benz is an outdoors enthusiast and backpacker, who served for five years as a hike leader with the Napa Land Trust and has acquired trail maintenance skills.

"I greatly enjoy the outdoors and now I want to be more active in protecting it and in encouraging other people to enjoy it and protect it," Benz stated. "I want to 'walk my talk.'"

Isabelle Saint-Guily is known by many of our members as a Sierra Club hike and paddles leader. She serves as membership chair and has been instrumental in coordinating the Napa group's public meetings at the Napa City-County Library.

Find out more about Isabelle's efforts "to see the 'club' part of the Napa Sierra Club be active and flourishing" in our electronic newsletter. If you do not now receive this free and timely e-newsletter, please send a request to napavalleysierraclub@gmail.com. "Bringing the members together is, I think very important," Isabelle stated.

The Napa group is very happy that Marc Pandone agreed to serve another term on the executive committee. A professor of fine arts at Solano College, he is a long-time member of the Sierra Club and has served on Napa Group's Executive Committee for 10 years.

Roger Hartwell and I are stepping down to devote time to our other pressing matters, but we will keep Napa's environmental health foremost in our other endeavors. Roger's expertise as a fish and wildlife biologist has been especially beneficial to the Napa Group, providing oversight and valuable input during hearings held by the State Water Resources Control Board reviewing land use, runoff, and instream impacts. I will continue to serve on the Napa County Groundwater Resources Advisory Committee as it develops a countywide groundwater monitoring plan and formulates sustainable groundwater use objectives, which are part of the GRAC mission as set by the Napa County Board of Supervisors.

Syar Quarry Expansion

Business-wise, Napa Sierra Club recently submitted comments to the county regarding Syar Industries' request to double production at its Napa quarry, located adjacent to Skyline Park. The proposed 291-acre expansion would affect local creeks and groundwater, destroy 4,000 feet of trails in Skyline Park, and degrade the scenic views from the park. Affected Skyline Park trails cross easements generously granted by the company. These trail are links to the Bay Area Ridge Trail system and as such represent a recreational treasure for locals and a draw for visitors.

Our concerns include habitat loss and potential for flash runoff in Arroyo Creek watershed, and further depletion of groundwater in the Milliken-Sarco-Tulocay (MST) area. Sierra Club believes that the expansion project can and should be modified to address these environmental impacts.

—MARILEE TALLEY,
FORMER NAPA GROUP CHAIR

Sonoma Group Report

Sonoma Group ExCom members met with Tennis J. Wick, the new director of the county's Planning, Resource Management Dept. (PRMD), at our December 2 Conservation Committee meeting. He fielded questions about the General Plan, Riparian Ordinance and other current issues. He also asked our views about a number of issues. He assured us that CEQA would remain the arbiter of environmental policy, and shared an understanding of the need for EIRs.

Mr. Wick was a planning consultant for the Port Sonoma/ Carneros landfill project which had been withdrawn earlier in 2013, but is not consulting with the developer on their newly introduced project, different in several respects and larger in scope. The Sonoma Group will be watching and reporting on that project as things develop.

Sonoma Group Chair Dan Kerbein and ExCom member Jessica Jones, in league with the Living Wage Coalition, are meeting with county supervisors to request approval of a living wage ordinance. We have also been active in calling for environmental and economic impact reports from WalMart, which has come back to the City of Rohnert Park with a scaled-down, "SmallMart" plan. According to the Sierra Club's Environmental Justice statement, "Blue-Green" coalitions like the Democracy Project and the Living Wage Coalition are necessary in the current age of "race to the bottom" wage trends, since environmental risks increase and democratic participation suffers as people fall into poverty.

Jessica Jones has taken the lead in championing a county-wide, uniform single-use bag ordinance (or bag ban). A Joint Powers Agreement (JPA) was passed by the county, but in order to have consistency everywhere, the city councils within Sonoma County have been invited to join the JPA Ordinance to ban plastic bags in local grocery stores. Jessica has met with council members and spoken at council meetings across the county and has co-created a Facebook advocacy page called "Sonoma County Ban the Bag". A ban on plastic bags is likely to pass in less than 6 months, enjoying full support from the Grocers Association, numerous electeds, the Sierra Club, SCCA and others. As the Redwood Needles goes to press, Santa Rosa, Rohnert Park and Petaluma have not decided whether to join the JPA, or to develop their own bag ordinance.

Shirley Johnson, Climate Chair, working with Climate Committee member Woody Hastings, brought us a letter to Sonoma Clean Power, the county's new Community Choice electricity vendor, proposing that revenue from its top-line green mix customers be used in promoting distributed rooftop-based solar electric generation, rather than entirely rely on the Geysers as its primary "green" power source. We approved the letter.

Chapter ExCom member Rue Furch has been active on the Santa Rosa Plain Ground Water Committee, which expects an important report from the USGS this summer.

Political Committee Chair Suzanne Doyle is gearing up to address the upcoming city and county elections. Two seats are open for county supervisors, also various city council seats., and candidates are beginning to campaign.

At the SCCC Holiday Networking Party, we reconnected with old friends and shared some good food at the Sebastopol Grange. We look forward to a productive retreat in February, and the SCCC Awards Dinner in March.

—DAN KERBEIN, SONOMA GROUP CHAIR

Mendocino Group Report

On December 19, 2013, in the Northern California District Court, Judge White found for the Army Corp and CalTrans on each of the claims that were raised by the Redwood Chapter et al. He found that the Army Corp did not err by adopting CalTrans' purpose and need for the Project and that the Corps' acceptance of CalTrans traffic study was not implausible, arbitrary or capricious. While the Judge acknowledged that the Project would result in new environmental impacts, he agreed with CalTrans and the Corps that those impacts were not significant (language supplied by Aruna Prabhala, Staff Attorney, Center for Biological Diversity). CalTrans has requested exorbitant court costs reminiscent of the SLAPP suits of days gone by.

Earlier in 2013 it was learned that CalTrans had not yet hired a wetlands mitigation contractor, the bids having been returned at three times the amount that CalTrans had budgeted. (http://www.willitsnews.com/localnews/ci_24387193/bypass-mitigation-bids-are-triple-estimate).

The Army Corp was very close to suspending the permits for wetlands alteration when the State Transportation Commission said CalTrans could have until July 2015 to hire such contractor. (http://www.willitsnews.com/localnews/ci_24749950/bypass-mitigation-contract-deadline-extended-2).

In another vein the Mendocino Group is preparing comments to the California Coastal Commission as regards the US Fish and Wildlife proposal to apply broad-spectrum poison within the Farallones National Marine Sanctuary. Recipient of Sierra Club Solano Group scholarship at Solano Community College

At 19 years old I have been a full-time biology student at Solano Community College for the last year and a half. I was thrilled to learn that I had won a scholarship from the Sierra Club towards my education! I plan to transfer to UC Davis and become a Doctor of Veterinary Medicine, and get my Ph.D with an emphasis in pathology.

I completely fell in love with aquatic bird rehabilitation when I started volunteering at International Bird Rescue (IBR) two years ago. I became very interested in the work and completed an internship with IBR over the summer.

I was homeschooled with my four sisters all the way through 12th grade, and absolutely loved it. I have always loved learning, and actively pursue many interests. In my spare time I enjoy volunteering, reading, writing stories, drawing, knitting, and practicing math.

North Group Report

Volunteer opportunities are available at North Group. You can play a part in our efforts to know, protect and enjoy our relatively unspoiled corner of California. No experience necessary. Curiosity and dedication are a must.

For example: become an Outings Leader, and help to plan and lead hikes and camping trips; seek out information on local conservation issues from public-agency meetings and other sources to share with other environmental activists; make use of social media and other platforms such as this one to share our experiences and ideas; communicate directly with local, state, and other elected officials to advance natural values; bring your own ideas or projects to Sierra Club, and take advantage of the Club's structure and resources.

Some recent local issues:

•Klamath River—Redwood Chapter continues to coordinate with Mother Lode and Oregon chapters to advocate a rational policy for dam removal. Also, the wildfires of 2013 and resulting suppression activities highlight a need for long-range watershed conservation planning in our local communities. Get details from Felice Pace, unofelice@gmail.com.

•Humboldt County General Plan Update—Northcoast Environmental Center, of which North Group is a member, has continued its participation in this 14-year process, through twists and turns including revision of previously adopted draft policy by newly elected County Supervisors. 2014 is another election year, bringing an opportunity for us to make a difference.

•Humboldt Bay Nuclear Plant decommissioning—While this nearly $1 billion project is proceeding in an orderly fashion, it's a useful reminder of how issues of global importance are unfolding here in our immediate neighborhood.

Do join us! Make plans to attend a hike or Executive Committee meeting, or contact Ned or Gregg for details.

—NED FORSYTH, NORTH GROUP VICE CHAIR

Ghosts of NAFTA and the Future of Globalization: A Discussion about the Trans-Pacific Partnership Agreement

Chances are that you've never heard of the Trans-Pacific Partnership (TPP). The TPP is a "free trade agreement" that would expand NAFTA-style corporate globalization to the entire Pacific Rim. And while the public and the media cannot see the details, hundreds of business executives from Chevron, Halliburton, Citi Group and others are actively crafting the pact. Given the extreme secrecy of negotiations, and what we know about the special interests writing these rules, the Sierra Club is concerned the TPP would not only have direct, devastating impacts on our environment, but would undermine efforts to expand environmental and climate protections.

More Fracking!

The TPP would facilitate increased exports of liquefied natural gas. As a result of the TPP, the United States would be legally required to automatically approve all exports of U.S. fracked gas to countries in the agreement without any analysis or delay. This could mean a massive, nationwide increase in hydraulic fracturing activities, potentially including in California, in order to feed foreign markets. Worse still, environmental economists believe this would cause an increase in natural gas and electricity prices, which would in turn increase use of dirty coal power plants. In this way, the TPP directly conflicts with our efforts to move beyond coal and address critical climate change issues.

Citizens United for Trans-National Corporations

A leaked version of a special chapter on "investor protection" confirms that the Administration intends to include rules that give corporations the right to directly sue governments in private (i.e. non-public) tribunals. While Citizens United maintains corporate personhood inside the U.S., these rules elevate multinational corporations to the status of countries. Under these rules, corporations can sue governments for unlimited cash compensation over nearly any law or regulation that the corporation argues is hurting their expected future profits.

To date, Exxon Mobil, Dow Chemical and others have launched more than 500 "investor protection" cases against 95 governments using the rules in so-called "trade agreements" that are built according to NAFTA's blueprint. Many of these cases directly attack environmental policies, such as efforts to phase-out toxic chemicals or stop dangerous mining practices. In the most recent of these cases, one U.S. company is literally claiming a "right to frack" and is using NAFTA to challenge a fracking moratorium designed to protect drinking water for millions of Canadians and Americans.

Sound impossible? Sadly, it's true. The TPP could allow a foreign corporation to sue the U.S. government in a private tribunal over a new California law that addresses fracking, climate change, mining or logging. And while there is plenty to be concerned about here at home, the implication of these rules for a developing country is vicious. "Investor protection" rules could almost entirely undermine efforts by developing countries to establish basic environmental and environmental justice laws.

Where are Our Representatives?

There is some good news. Representatives Huffman and Garamendi, joined by about 170 other House Democrats, sent a Dear Colleague letter to the White House in which they expressed their grave concerns with the TPP and vowed to oppose "fast-track" - the legislation that could allow the TPP to quietly and quickly get approved by Congress. Rep. Huffman went further. He sent a letter to the Administration specifically addressing the impact of TPP on liquefied natural gas exports and related increases of fracking activities.
