February General Meeting—
Master Urban Parkway Plan
program presented by Professor Mark J. Keppler

The Coalition for Community Trails (CCT) is working with the cities of Fresno and Clovis, Fresno County, the Fresno Metropolitan Flood Control District (FMFCD), the Fresno Irrigation District (FID) and Tree Fresno to develop a multi-purpose Parkway Plan for the Fresno-Clovis Metropolitan Area. The plan consists of the approved bikeways in the cities of Clovis and Fresno and Fresno County, as well as possible FID irrigation canals that could accommodate trails. The CCT is coordinating this effort with the FMFCD to encourage the development of parks at recharge basins adjacent to these trails. The goal is to connect over 100 FMFCD recreational sites with a network of over 200 miles of urban trails in the Fresno-Clovis Metropolitan Area.

Professor Mark J. Keppler is the Executive Director of The Maddy Institute of public affairs at California State University, Fresno. He is also a federal mediator for the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission and an arbitrator.

“Improving Water Quality with Better Waste Treatment” presented by Dave Tucker

Dave Tucker, city engineer, will share plans for a new wastewater treatment system for the city of Merced. Currently in its pre-design stage, the new system will increase the capacity from 10 million gallons a day to 15 million. It will upgrade from a secondary treatment system to a tertiary one. Come find out what all this means and how these improvements will improve the water quality in our city.

Outings
Saturday, February 12th
San Luis Wildlife Refuge—birding on the winter migration flyway and checking in on the Tule Elk herd. Bring binoculars, sandwich, something to drink, and rainwear just in case. Meet at 9:00 A.M. at the Almond Tree Restaurant in Livingston, Hammett exit, west side of the freeway. We’ll carpool.

Special Request
The Merced Group needs someone interested in chairing or co-chairing the Conservation Committee. To find out what the hot local issues are that need monitoring, and to get an idea what the job entails, contact Marsh Pitman at (209) 723-2986 or marshpitman@sbcglobal.net.
As spring days grow longer, our thoughts turn toward outings into the wilds! This year, why not select a Sierra Club national activist outing?

What’s an activist outing? An intriguing Club trip that takes you to a special place that needs protection. And while you’re enjoying a memorable outdoor experience in a scenic location, you’re learning how you can become a leader in the campaign to keep the area wild.

Why an activist outing? As a Sierra Club member, you seek more than just travel: to blend your wildlands enjoyment with advocacy for the magnificent place you are visiting. Activist trips make it easy and also empower you to defend America’s wild heritage against the sinister attacks of the Bush administration.

In 2005, the Sierra Club proudly presents five national activist outings—from May to September: choose from Maine, Nevada, Idaho, Alaska, or Utah.

May 20–28
Protecting the Owyhee Canyonlands of Nevada, Oregon, and Idaho: Three States and One Treasure. These little-known desert uplands and deep, sheer canyons boast spectacular scenery, dramatic geology, and immensely varied biology. Hike, camp, travel by van, and explore this breathtaking, incomparable wide-open country. Leader: Craig Deutsche. Price: $625. [05035A]

July 14–25
Rafting the Wild Rivers of Alaska: A Journey Through the Wrangell, St. Elias, and Chugach Mountains. Rafting the mighty Copper River, surrounded by lofty peaks and massive glaciers, is a world-class adventure. Float 150 miles and draw inspiration from this remote wilderness. Enjoy time for hiking, fishing, and wildlife viewing. Minimum age: 16. Leader: Cristina Breen. Price: $2,495. [05036A]

July 16–24
Protecting Wild Nevada. Mountain streams, lush meadows, and 11,000-foot snowy peaks in Nevada? Yes, you’ll drive across this little-known and less-traveled state to its eastern edge to day hike in varied astounding wild areas. The Schell Creek Range and Mt. Moriah are just the start. Nevada has more potential wilderness than any other state. Leaders: Cal and Letty French. Price: $595. [05101A]

July 17–23
Vision for the Maine Woods: Restoring Valuable Wilderness. Maine activists are working to create wilderness areas in a once-primeval forest now largely privately-owned. Learn more about this major long-range campaign as you canoe four days on the idyllic west branch of the Penobscot River (once explored by Thoreau) and camp one night at Lily Bay State Park. Canoes provided. Leaders: Joan and Barry Saxe. Price: $475. [05102A]

September 17–24
Utah’s Wild West Desert. Virtually unknown compared to redrock country, western Utah offers compelling Great Basin mountain ranges and endless, sweeping landscapes. Car camping by van, explore on day hikes and one overnight backpack. Enjoy scenic peak climbs in the majestic Deep Creek and House Ranges, plus other wild ranges. Leader: Vicky Hoover. Price: $525. [05103A]

For more information, contact Vicky Hoover at (415) 977-5527 or vicky.hoover@sierraclub.org. Ask about partial scholarships for applicants for whom cost is a deterrent. Some Chapters may be able to help if you become an official Chapter representative. For a trip brochure and application form, call the Sierra Club Outing Department’s 24-hour voicemail at (415) 977-5522, or visit www.sierraclub.org/outings.
Meet Your Executive Committee

Gerald Vinnard, Chair

I like to explore...
“My favorite outdoor area is Kaiser Pass, and the surrounding peaks, lakes and trails.”

I enjoy...
“I enjoy all sorts of outdoor activities, but my favorites are cross-country skiing and backpacking.”

I’d like to protect...
“The two areas I am most interested in protecting are Yosemite National Park and the San Joaquin River.”

Bill Fjellbo

I like to explore...
“Seashores, marshes, rivers, Yosemite, Maritime Provinces of Canada.”

I enjoy...
“Hiking, skiing, bird watching, fishing, camping.”

I’d like to protect...
“Outside of our immediate area, tidal marshes and coastal estuaries. In our area, Sequoia National Monument.”

JoAnne Armstrong, Vice-Chair

I like to explore...
“The high country of the Sierra. The Sierra is my heart and soul.”

I enjoy...
“Hiking, backpacking, downhill skiing, biking, snorkeling, sailing, skating, and running.”

I’d like to protect...
“I’d like to see all wild areas (or what’s left of them) preserved wild, and National Parks protected as was the intention when established. Let’s get cars, buses, and RVs out of the parks. My immediate goal is to protect the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge and the Tongass and Chugach National Forests. In my lifetime, I’d like to protect and preserve the environment as a whole and educate others to do the same when I’m gone.”

Don Gaede

I like to explore...
“Anywhere in Yosemite National Park, especially the trail from Tuolumne Meadows to Clouds Rest, and Cathedral Lakes and Peak.”

I enjoy...
“I like to hike, cross-country ski, backpack, and bag waterfalls (take a dip under waterfalls.) Seeing waterfalls is nice, but feeling the water on your head and shoulders after a hot hike is très cool. I hope to do Upper Yosemite Falls this year, after it slows down to a strong trickle.”

I’d like to protect...
“The Sierra foothills are being rapidly developed, but they have wonderful beauty in their wild state—especially the Table Mountain areas, with their unique vernal pools. McKenzie Table Mountain area is a real treasure; we need to preserve more areas like it.”

Aimee Leyva, Secretary

I like to explore...
“My favorite area to explore is Kings Canyon National Park. It has some great trails there and not a lot of people on the trails.”

I enjoy...
“My favorite activity is hiking. I enjoy day hikes that average during the summer months.”

I’d like to protect...
“There are a lot of areas I would like to protect. Yosemite seems to be my biggest concern—the less aesthetic it becomes. I would like to hike to the top of Yosemite Falls with...”
Tom Eliason

I like to explore...
“The East Fork of Bear Creek, in Sierra National Forest.”

I enjoy...
“Backpacking and mountaineering.”

I’d like to protect...
“I’d like to preserve roadless areas.”

Ron Mackie

I like to explore...
“Our own High Sierra, particularly Evolution Valley to the Big Horn Plateau.”

I enjoy...
“Hiking and backpacking.”

I’d like to protect...
“Our support of Sequoia National Monument Task Force is of immediate importance. Supporting and protecting our public lands is my greatest interest.”

June Gill

I like to explore...
“I have recently spent a lot of time exploring the Eastern Sierra around Lee Vining and Mammoth (Inyo National Forest). It’s some of the most spectacular mountain scenery anywhere.”

I enjoy...
“My favorite outdoors activities are hiking, backpacking, and camping.”

I’d like to protect...
“I think we need to make sure that the unique environment of the Sierra foothills is preserved for the next generation.”

Joe Ruff, Treasurer

I like to explore...
“I enjoy the desert areas in the fall, winter and spring. The Death Valley area is one of my favorites.”

I enjoy...
“Hiking in just about any area.”

I’d like to protect...
“I would like to see more desert lands protected from development.”

No specific reason, other than the fact I like that there are 10-15 miles. As a hike leader, I try and lead the longer hikes concern and interest right now The more construction I see, shout seeing all the structures at the bottom.”
Dear reader, what do you think about our environment? Crowded? Trashed? Burned out? I’ll venture to say that everything that is wrong with our planet is caused by too many humans. I urge you to read John Uhl’s book, Life on a Crowded Planet: How You Can Help Create a Sustainable Future. Check it out for free from lifeonacrowdedplanet.com. If you agree that population is an issue, talk to others about how a stable population is key and necessary component of sustainable human life on Earth. I figure we are already being warned by Mother Earth that she’s pretty upset with us. What do you think?

Found another interesting item in Real Money, November/December 2004 Letters to the Editor. “The EPA says mobile phones are hazardous waste because they contain lead, mercury, cadmium, and arsenic. About 100 million or so toxic cell phones are ‘retired’ each year in the U.S., so recycling your unwanted cell phone is a great way to protect people and the planet.” Send your phone to any of the following for refurbishment or recycling:

- Collective Good
  (770) 856-9021 www.collectivegood.com
  Will refurbish your old cell phone and resell it at a considerable discount to people in developing countries.

- Donate a Phone/Call to Protect
  (888) 901-SAFE www.donateaphone.com
  Refurbishes old cell phones in partnership with Motorola and the National Coalition Against Domestic Violence. The phones are programmed to dial 911 and are given to victims of domestic violence with free emergency airtime.

- ReCellular
  www.wirelessrecycling.com
  Enter your zip code at this website to find a local Re-
  Cellular cell phone dropoff center for refurbishing or recycling. It manages recycling programs for many large companies such as Sprint and Verizon, as well as charities like the Easter Seals, Call to Protect, and Goodwill. In addition, donations often benefit local charities that organize collections.

Hope this was new info for you...

And, from The Washington Spectator, V. 31, No. 2, comes this tidbit:

Try, Try, and Try Again to End an American Anachronism

In 1969, the House of Representatives, then with a Democratic majority, voted 338 to 70 for an amendment to the Constitution that would have abolished the electoral College. It was the strongest showing in many tries. But in the Senate, southern conservatives filibustered it to death. In 1979, the Senate fell 15 votes short of the two thirds majority needed to try again. Senator Dianne Feinstein (D-CA) has promised legislation this year that would close the Electoral College and provide for a direct, popular vote election of the president and vice president. I, personally, pray that she succeeds. I’ll even light candles at the altar even though it’s not in my religion!

Kudos

Excuse my lateness in thanking the dedicated sticky label ladies who spend time almost each month on your newsletter. Thanks to Barbara Ludeke, Marie Carnahan, Louise Dorman, Helen Schultz, Joan Weeks, and Nancy Howard. Frank Orvis receives my special commendation for his years of toil and mostly putting up with me! Martha Froelich’s presence in our dedicated group is sorely missed. We think of her often.

Rally in the Valley

Rally in the Valley for Peace and Social Justice will be organized and sponsored by a coalition of valley and mountain groups dedicated to peace, social and environmental justice. The rally will feature speakers, music, food, and groups who seek to make our communities and this world a better place. It will be held on Saturday, March 19, 2005, noon to 3:00 PM in the Fresno County Courthouse Park (pending permit approval.)

On March 19, 2003 the United States began its war in Iraq. The rally marks that date and will be an opportunity for the peace and justice community to stand together for the positive goals that we share. It will be a time to say NO to the agenda of war, to U.S. attacks on our civil rights and civil liberties, and to the current degradation of environmental safeguards. Come take a public stand of solidarity for local, national, and international peace and justice.

Please call Peace Fresno’s voice mail (559) 487-2515, e-mail president@peacefresno.org, or visit www.peacefresno.org.
