The Ronald Mann Endowment

NOTE: The Ronald Mann Endowment funds are restricted to tax deductible (C3) activities.

Brief history: The Ronald Mann Endowment Fund is a bequest of $50,000 to the Sierra Club Foundation (C3 – tax deductible funds). Management of the endowed fund shall provide ongoing support for the charitable activities of the Sierra Club’s John Muir Chapter for the protection and preservation of the environment. The Chapter will receive $2,500 annually (or 5% of the value of the endowment) to be used for charitable (c-3) activities with the first distribution made near the end of 2003. In the past, the John Muir Chapter has awarded grants to projects including:

- 2007: The Community of Youth project: A Great Waters Group project designed to increase children’s interest and participation in the environment and the Great Waters Group
- 2007: Sustainability Conference: A Fox Valley Sierra Group conference that focused on sustainability issues in the Fox Valley region
- 2008: Paradise Lost: A Four Lakes Group project that provided educational presentations in 3-5 participating communities to bring the science of climate change to ordinary citizens.

Intent of the Donor: To provide ongoing support for the charitable activities of the Sierra Club’s John Muir Chapter for the protection and preservation of the environment.

Examples of possible tax deductible Grants:
- Develop a water monitoring team and purchase the appropriate equipment
- Develop a tour of local polluters (or local solution businesses)
- Fund a local/regional conference focusing on an issue of importance to the Group and its members

Accrual of Funds:
The John Muir Chapter receives $2,500 annually (5% of the value of the endowment to be used for charitable (c-3) activities, subject to the rate of return on invested funds. It is Foundation’s policy that 5% of the three-year average of the Mann endowment is transferred to the John Muir Chapter granting fund each year.

NOTE: The Planned Giving Office of the National Sierra Club advised that ‘the endowment was set up to benefit the John Muir Chapter ‘in perpetuity. This means that the Chapter will receive $2,500 annually (5% of the value of the endowment) to be used for charitable (c-3) activities.’
